

IMPORTANT
BUSINESS NEWS

WHAT IS GOING ON TONIGHT

Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs at Broad Theater.
Vaudeville at Rustic Theater at Lincoln Park.
Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Auditorium.
The Matchmaker at Broadway Theater.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

When Sleep Fails, take Horford's Acid Phosphate. It quiets the nerves, nourishes the body and induces refreshing sleep.
Frank A. Bill offers a lot of shoes specials today (Saturday). Ladies' and men's $2.50 and $3 shoes and Oxfords at $1.98.
$33 Pacific Coast.
Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines from Chicago daily, September 15 to October 15. Corresponding low rates are in effect from your town.
These low rate tickets are available for passage on personally conducted excursions in Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Chicago to the coast without change.
The train service includes no less than four splendidly equipped trans-continental trains daily from Chicago, connecting with all lines from the east.
Write for particulars to S. A. Hutchins, Manager Tour Department, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

BROADWAY THEATER.

Charcott, the Hypnotist.
On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Broadway Theater Charcott, the greatest hypnotist in the world, will give a performance at the Broadway Theater in the wonderful art of hypnotism and the occult science. His great art has myriad multitudes. On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock Charcott will place a subject in hypnotic state on exhibition at the Brooklyn Outfitters, at 266-268 Main Street.

The best vaudeville acts that can be procured will be seen with this great man.
Seats on sale at the box office, Warrington House and Bisset, Pichey & Co. on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Matchmaker."

"The Matchmaker," which will appear at the Broadway Theater this afternoon and evening, was written by Jerrold Sheppard. The name is new to the writer, but the play indicates that it is likely to become familiar to dramatic critics. It is a comedy, a successful play, and it is obvious enough that careful and competent rehearsal and stage directions have had much to do with making "The Matchmaker" what it is—the business of often counts for as much as the "lines," and with all due allowance for this aid, the playwright's performance deserves to be pronounced admirable and most promising. He has not only provided Daniel Sully with an excellent vehicle, better than "The Parish Priest," but he has written a sound, holding, picturesque drama, full of vivid character drawing and original ideas, which rises at least once in the scene, perfectly played by Mr. Sully and Mr. William F. Kolman, between Father Daly and Pierre Wolf in the third act to the highest point of the best of contemporaneous American playwrights. "The Matchmaker" is called "drama" advisedly because the plot and incidents are the outcome of the characters of its persons and their clash with each other.

Mr. Sully is most capably supported. Every member of the company seems to have caught something of the star's quiet, realistic, lifelike method. Nobody rants, nobody overacts, nobody whines, nobody plays openly for laughs or hands. The result is a harmonious performance with nobody "out of the atmosphere."

BREED THEATER.

A Strange Meeting, Story of a Female Thief.
With all of the degradations of the slums, with all of its repellent conditions, there is a weird fascination to know more of it, and hope to see its upliftment. It is just such a desire that prompted the Breeds to venture to seek out a wandering son in the midst of a Bovey dance hall, at the request of his mother, in the great picture at the Breeds entitled "A Strange Meeting." While in the dance hall the minister sees the face of a pretty and innocent looking girl, whom he hands a card with a reminder of her name on it. It happens she is the daughter of a professional thief and is forced to enter and rob a house this night. Fate arranged the affair well, for the house happens to be the home of the little minister, and he catches the girl in the act. She is deeply humiliated at the situation, and the minister allows her to go, reminding her of the words of the Psalm. Her wandering has been aroused, and she seeks out the little mission to hear more of the tender minister's words, and while sitting in the dusk of the dying day she utters a prayer, "Show me Thy way, O Lord," and the minister, passing

IMPORTANT
BUSINESS NEWS

WHAT IS GOING ON TONIGHT

Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs at Broad Theater.
Vaudeville at Rustic Theater at Lincoln Park.
Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Auditorium.
The Matchmaker at Broadway Theater.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

When Sleep Fails, take Horford's Acid Phosphate. It quiets the nerves, nourishes the body and induces refreshing sleep.
Frank A. Bill offers a lot of shoes specials today (Saturday). Ladies' and men's $2.50 and $3 shoes and Oxfords at $1.98.
$33 Pacific Coast.
Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines from Chicago daily, September 15 to October 15. Corresponding low rates are in effect from your town.
These low rate tickets are available for passage on personally conducted excursions in Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Chicago to the coast without change.
The train service includes no less than four splendidly equipped trans-continental trains daily from Chicago, connecting with all lines from the east.
Write for particulars to S. A. Hutchins, Manager Tour Department, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

BROADWAY THEATER.

Charcott, the Hypnotist.
On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Broadway Theater Charcott, the greatest hypnotist in the world, will give a performance at the Broadway Theater in the wonderful art of hypnotism and the occult science. His great art has myriad multitudes. On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock Charcott will place a subject in hypnotic state on exhibition at the Brooklyn Outfitters, at 266-268 Main Street.

The best vaudeville acts that can be procured will be seen with this great man.
Seats on sale at the box office, Warrington House and Bisset, Pichey & Co. on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Matchmaker."

"The Matchmaker," which will appear at the Broadway Theater this afternoon and evening, was written by Jerrold Sheppard. The name is new to the writer, but the play indicates that it is likely to become familiar to dramatic critics. It is a comedy, a successful play, and it is obvious enough that careful and competent rehearsal and stage directions have had much to do with making "The Matchmaker" what it is—the business of often counts for as much as the "lines," and with all due allowance for this aid, the playwright's performance deserves to be pronounced admirable and most promising. He has not only provided Daniel Sully with an excellent vehicle, better than "The Parish Priest," but he has written a sound, holding, picturesque drama, full of vivid character drawing and original ideas, which rises at least once in the scene, perfectly played by Mr. Sully and Mr. William F. Kolman, between Father Daly and Pierre Wolf in the third act to the highest point of the best of contemporaneous American playwrights. "The Matchmaker" is called "drama" advisedly because the plot and incidents are the outcome of the characters of its persons and their clash with each other.

Mr. Sully is most capably supported. Every member of the company seems to have caught something of the star's quiet, realistic, lifelike method. Nobody rants, nobody overacts, nobody whines, nobody plays openly for laughs or hands. The result is a harmonious performance with nobody "out of the atmosphere."

BREED THEATER.

A Strange Meeting, Story of a Female Thief.
With all of the degradations of the slums, with all of its repellent conditions, there is a weird fascination to know more of it, and hope to see its upliftment. It is just such a desire that prompted the Breeds to venture to seek out a wandering son in the midst of a Bovey dance hall, at the request of his mother, in the great picture at the Breeds entitled "A Strange Meeting." While in the dance hall the minister sees the face of a pretty and innocent looking girl, whom he hands a card with a reminder of her name on it. It happens she is the daughter of a professional thief and is forced to enter and rob a house this night. Fate arranged the affair well, for the house happens to be the home of the little minister, and he catches the girl in the act. She is deeply humiliated at the situation, and the minister allows her to go, reminding her of the words of the Psalm. Her wandering has been aroused, and she seeks out the little mission to hear more of the tender minister's words, and while sitting in the dusk of the dying day she utters a prayer, "Show me Thy way, O Lord," and the minister, passing

IMPORTANT
BUSINESS NEWS

WHAT IS GOING ON TONIGHT

Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs at Broad Theater.
Vaudeville at Rustic Theater at Lincoln Park.
Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Auditorium.
The Matchmaker at Broadway Theater.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

When Sleep Fails, take Horford's Acid Phosphate. It quiets the nerves, nourishes the body and induces refreshing sleep.
Frank A. Bill offers a lot of shoes specials today (Saturday). Ladies' and men's $2.50 and $3 shoes and Oxfords at $1.98.
$33 Pacific Coast.
Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines from Chicago daily, September 15 to October 15. Corresponding low rates are in effect from your town.
These low rate tickets are available for passage on personally conducted excursions in Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Chicago to the coast without change.
The train service includes no less than four splendidly equipped trans-continental trains daily from Chicago, connecting with all lines from the east.
Write for particulars to S. A. Hutchins, Manager Tour Department, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

BROADWAY THEATER.

Charcott, the Hypnotist.
On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Broadway Theater Charcott, the greatest hypnotist in the world, will give a performance at the Broadway Theater in the wonderful art of hypnotism and the occult science. His great art has myriad multitudes. On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock Charcott will place a subject in hypnotic state on exhibition at the Brooklyn Outfitters, at 266-268 Main Street.

The best vaudeville acts that can be procured will be seen with this great man.
Seats on sale at the box office, Warrington House and Bisset, Pichey & Co. on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Matchmaker."

"The Matchmaker," which will appear at the Broadway Theater this afternoon and evening, was written by Jerrold Sheppard. The name is new to the writer, but the play indicates that it is likely to become familiar to dramatic critics. It is a comedy, a successful play, and it is obvious enough that careful and competent rehearsal and stage directions have had much to do with making "The Matchmaker" what it is—the business of often counts for as much as the "lines," and with all due allowance for this aid, the playwright's performance deserves to be pronounced admirable and most promising. He has not only provided Daniel Sully with an excellent vehicle, better than "The Parish Priest," but he has written a sound, holding, picturesque drama, full of vivid character drawing and original ideas, which rises at least once in the scene, perfectly played by Mr. Sully and Mr. William F. Kolman, between Father Daly and Pierre Wolf in the third act to the highest point of the best of contemporaneous American playwrights. "The Matchmaker" is called "drama" advisedly because the plot and incidents are the outcome of the characters of its persons and their clash with each other.

Mr. Sully is most capably supported. Every member of the company seems to have caught something of the star's quiet, realistic, lifelike method. Nobody rants, nobody overacts, nobody whines, nobody plays openly for laughs or hands. The result is a harmonious performance with nobody "out of the atmosphere."

BREED THEATER.

A Strange Meeting, Story of a Female Thief.
With all of the degradations of the slums, with all of its repellent conditions, there is a weird fascination to know more of it, and hope to see its upliftment. It is just such a desire that prompted the Breeds to venture to seek out a wandering son in the midst of a Bovey dance hall, at the request of his mother, in the great picture at the Breeds entitled "A Strange Meeting." While in the dance hall the minister sees the face of a pretty and innocent looking girl, whom he hands a card with a reminder of her name on it. It happens she is the daughter of a professional thief and is forced to enter and rob a house this night. Fate arranged the affair well, for the house happens to be the home of the little minister, and he catches the girl in the act. She is deeply humiliated at the situation, and the minister allows her to go, reminding her of the words of the Psalm. Her wandering has been aroused, and she seeks out the little mission to hear more of the tender minister's words, and while sitting in the dusk of the dying day she utters a prayer, "Show me Thy way, O Lord," and the minister, passing

IMPORTANT
BUSINESS NEWS

WHAT IS GOING ON TONIGHT

Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs at Broad Theater.
Vaudeville at Rustic Theater at Lincoln Park.
Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Auditorium.
The Matchmaker at Broadway Theater.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

When Sleep Fails, take Horford's Acid Phosphate. It quiets the nerves, nourishes the body and induces refreshing sleep.
Frank A. Bill offers a lot of shoes specials today (Saturday). Ladies' and men's $2.50 and $3 shoes and Oxfords at $1.98.
$33 Pacific Coast.
Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines from Chicago daily, September 15 to October 15. Corresponding low rates are in effect from your town.
These low rate tickets are available for passage on personally conducted excursions in Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Chicago to the coast without change.
The train service includes no less than four splendidly equipped trans-continental trains daily from Chicago, connecting with all lines from the east.
Write for particulars to S. A. Hutchins, Manager Tour Department, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

BROADWAY THEATER.

Charcott, the Hypnotist.
On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Broadway Theater Charcott, the greatest hypnotist in the world, will give a performance at the Broadway Theater in the wonderful art of hypnotism and the occult science. His great art has myriad multitudes. On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock Charcott will place a subject in hypnotic state on exhibition at the Brooklyn Outfitters, at 266-268 Main Street.

The best vaudeville acts that can be procured will be seen with this great man.
Seats on sale at the box office, Warrington House and Bisset, Pichey & Co. on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Matchmaker."

"The Matchmaker," which will appear at the Broadway Theater this afternoon and evening, was written by Jerrold Sheppard. The name is new to the writer, but the play indicates that it is likely to become familiar to dramatic critics. It is a comedy, a successful play, and it is obvious enough that careful and competent rehearsal and stage directions have had much to do with making "The Matchmaker" what it is—the business of often counts for as much as the "lines," and with all due allowance for this aid, the playwright's performance deserves to be pronounced admirable and most promising. He has not only provided Daniel Sully with an excellent vehicle, better than "The Parish Priest," but he has written a sound, holding, picturesque drama, full of vivid character drawing and original ideas, which rises at least once in the scene, perfectly played by Mr. Sully and Mr. William F. Kolman, between Father Daly and Pierre Wolf in the third act to the highest point of the best of contemporaneous American playwrights. "The Matchmaker" is called "drama" advisedly because the plot and incidents are the outcome of the characters of its persons and their clash with each other.

Mr. Sully is most capably supported. Every member of the company seems to have caught something of the star's quiet, realistic, lifelike method. Nobody rants, nobody overacts, nobody whines, nobody plays openly for laughs or hands. The result is a harmonious performance with nobody "out of the atmosphere."

BREED THEATER.

A Strange Meeting, Story of a Female Thief.
With all of the degradations of the slums, with all of its repellent conditions, there is a weird fascination to know more of it, and hope to see its upliftment. It is just such a desire that prompted the Breeds to venture to seek out a wandering son in the midst of a Bovey dance hall, at the request of his mother, in the great picture at the Breeds entitled "A Strange Meeting." While in the dance hall the minister sees the face of a pretty and innocent looking girl, whom he hands a card with a reminder of her name on it. It happens she is the daughter of a professional thief and is forced to enter and rob a house this night. Fate arranged the affair well, for the house happens to be the home of the little minister, and he catches the girl in the act. She is deeply humiliated at the situation, and the minister allows her to go, reminding her of the words of the Psalm. Her wandering has been aroused, and she seeks out the little mission to hear more of the tender minister's words, and while sitting in the dusk of the dying day she utters a prayer, "Show me Thy way, O Lord," and the minister, passing

IMPORTANT
BUSINESS NEWS

WHAT IS GOING ON TONIGHT

Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs at Broad Theater.
Vaudeville at Rustic Theater at Lincoln Park.
Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Auditorium.
The Matchmaker at Broadway Theater.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

When Sleep Fails, take Horford's Acid Phosphate. It quiets the nerves, nourishes the body and induces refreshing sleep.
Frank A. Bill offers a lot of shoes specials today (Saturday). Ladies' and men's $2.50 and $3 shoes and Oxfords at $1.98.
$33 Pacific Coast.
Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines from Chicago daily, September 15 to October 15. Corresponding low rates are in effect from your town.
These low rate tickets are available for passage on personally conducted excursions in Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Chicago to the coast without change.
The train service includes no less than four splendidly equipped trans-continental trains daily from Chicago, connecting with all lines from the east.
Write for particulars to S. A. Hutchins, Manager Tour Department, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

BROADWAY THEATER.

Charcott, the Hypnotist.
On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Broadway Theater Charcott, the greatest hypnotist in the world, will give a performance at the Broadway Theater in the wonderful art of hypnotism and the occult science. His great art has myriad multitudes. On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock Charcott will place a subject in hypnotic state on exhibition at the Brooklyn Outfitters, at 266-268 Main Street.

The best vaudeville acts that can be procured will be seen with this great man.
Seats on sale at the box office, Warrington House and Bisset, Pichey & Co. on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Matchmaker."

"The Matchmaker," which will appear at the Broadway Theater this afternoon and evening, was written by Jerrold Sheppard. The name is new to the writer, but the play indicates that it is likely to become familiar to dramatic critics. It is a comedy, a successful play, and it is obvious enough that careful and competent rehearsal and stage directions have had much to do with making "The Matchmaker" what it is—the business of often counts for as much as the "lines," and with all due allowance for this aid, the playwright's performance deserves to be pronounced admirable and most promising. He has not only provided Daniel Sully with an excellent vehicle, better than "The Parish Priest," but he has written a sound, holding, picturesque drama, full of vivid character drawing and original ideas, which rises at least once in the scene, perfectly played by Mr. Sully and Mr. William F. Kolman, between Father Daly and Pierre Wolf in the third act to the highest point of the best of contemporaneous American playwrights. "The Matchmaker" is called "drama" advisedly because the plot and incidents are the outcome of the characters of its persons and their clash with each other.

Mr. Sully is most capably supported. Every member of the company seems to have caught something of the star's quiet, realistic, lifelike method. Nobody rants, nobody overacts, nobody whines, nobody plays openly for laughs or hands. The result is a harmonious performance with nobody "out of the atmosphere."

BREED THEATER.

A Strange Meeting, Story of a Female Thief.
With all of the degradations of the slums, with all of its repellent conditions, there is a weird fascination to know more of it, and hope to see its upliftment. It is just such a desire that prompted the Breeds to venture to seek out a wandering son in the midst of a Bovey dance hall, at the request of his mother, in the great picture at the Breeds entitled "A Strange Meeting." While in the dance hall the minister sees the face of a pretty and innocent looking girl, whom he hands a card with a reminder of her name on it. It happens she is the daughter of a professional thief and is forced to enter and rob a house this night. Fate arranged the affair well, for the house happens to be the home of the little minister, and he catches the girl in the act. She is deeply humiliated at the situation, and the minister allows her to go, reminding her of the words of the Psalm. Her wandering has been aroused, and she seeks out the little mission to hear more of the tender minister's words, and while sitting in the dusk of the dying day she utters a prayer, "Show me Thy way, O Lord," and the minister, passing

IMPORTANT
BUSINESS NEWS

WHAT IS GOING ON TONIGHT

Moving Pictures and Illustrated Songs at Broad Theater.
Vaudeville at Rustic Theater at Lincoln Park.
Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Auditorium.
The Matchmaker at Broadway Theater.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

When Sleep Fails, take Horford's Acid Phosphate. It quiets the nerves, nourishes the body and induces refreshing sleep.
Frank A. Bill offers a lot of shoes specials today (Saturday). Ladies' and men's $2.50 and $3 shoes and Oxfords at $1.98.
$33 Pacific Coast.
Via the Chicago, Union Pacific and North Western Lines from Chicago daily, September 15 to October 15. Corresponding low rates are in effect from your town.
These low rate tickets are available for passage on personally conducted excursions in Pullman Tourist Sleeping Cars, Chicago to the coast without change.
The train service includes no less than four splendidly equipped trans-continental trains daily from Chicago, connecting with all lines from the east.
Write for particulars to S. A. Hutchins, Manager Tour Department, 212 Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

BROADWAY THEATER.

Charcott, the Hypnotist.
On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Broadway Theater Charcott, the greatest hypnotist in the world, will give a performance at the Broadway Theater in the wonderful art of hypnotism and the occult science. His great art has myriad multitudes. On Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock Charcott will place a subject in hypnotic state on exhibition at the Brooklyn Outfitters, at 266-268 Main Street.

The best vaudeville acts that can be procured will be seen with this great man.
Seats on sale at the box office, Warrington House and Bisset, Pichey & Co. on Saturday, Sept. 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Matchmaker."

"The Matchmaker," which will appear at the Broadway Theater this afternoon and evening, was written by Jerrold Sheppard. The name is new to the writer, but the play indicates that it is likely to become familiar to dramatic critics. It is a comedy, a successful play, and it is obvious enough that careful and competent rehearsal and stage directions have had much to do with making "The Matchmaker" what it is—the business of often counts for as much as the "lines," and with all due allowance for this aid, the playwright's performance deserves to be pronounced admirable and most promising. He has not only provided Daniel Sully with an excellent vehicle, better than "The Parish Priest," but he has written a sound, holding, picturesque drama, full of vivid character drawing and original ideas, which rises at least once in the scene, perfectly played by Mr. Sully and Mr. William F. Kolman, between Father Daly and Pierre Wolf in the third act to the highest point of the best of contemporaneous American playwrights. "The Matchmaker" is called "drama" advisedly because the plot and incidents are the outcome of the characters of its persons and their clash with each other.

Mr. Sully is most capably supported. Every member of the company seems to have caught something of the star's quiet, realistic, lifelike method. Nobody rants, nobody overacts, nobody whines, nobody plays openly for laughs or hands. The result is a harmonious performance with nobody "out of the atmosphere."

BREED THEATER.

A Strange Meeting, Story of a Female Thief.
With all of the degradations of the slums, with all of its repellent conditions, there is a weird fascination to know more of it, and hope to see its upliftment. It is just such a desire that prompted the Breeds to venture to seek out a wandering son in the midst of a Bovey dance hall, at the request of his mother, in the great picture at the Breeds entitled "A Strange Meeting." While in the dance hall the minister sees the face of a pretty and innocent looking girl, whom he hands a card with a reminder of her name on it. It happens she is the daughter of a professional thief and is forced to enter and rob a house this night. Fate arranged the affair well, for the house happens to be the home of the little minister, and he catches the girl in the act. She is deeply humiliated at the situation, and the minister allows her to go, reminding her of the words of the Psalm. Her wandering has been aroused, and she seeks out the little mission to hear more of the tender minister's words, and while sitting in the dusk of the dying day she utters a prayer, "Show me Thy way, O Lord," and the minister, passing

FOETRY.

TO THE MEN WHO LOSE.

Here's to the men who lose!
What though their work be naught
No nobly planned,
And watched with jealous care,
No glorious hand crowns their efforts
And
Conquers in failure's share.

Here's to the men who lose!
If triumph's smile o'er your struggles Courage is easy then
This life is he who after fierce defeat
Can up and fight again.

Here's to the men who lose!
The triumphs of a fawning
world
Ring sweet in victor's ears:
The vanquished banners never are unfurled
For them there sound no cheers.

Here's to the men who lose!
The touchstones of true worth is not success
There's a higher test
Though fate may darkly frown, onward to press,
And bravely do one's best.

Here's to the men who lose!
It is the vanquished's praises that I sing,
And this the toast I choose:
"A triumph's failure is a noble thing."
Here's to the men who lose!

ABOVE THE TIMBER LINE.

Below the winding path lies broad and green.
With a tree-shaded space decked with light:
Chirpings of birds deep-hidden from the sun:
Whose fledgling-laden nests the branches screen.
And many a brook and morning air serene.
Speak pleasant days and gentle, soft a blight
The rugged trees reveal: the rugged men
Of the bare mountain side looms sharp steep.
During the lofty-souled to brave its
steep.
There were the keen-eyed eagles vigor keep.
And leaf-glazed trails reflect the heaven's
The worn and eager climber sees unfurled
A view of God's meaning of the world.
—Pall Mall Magazine.

VIEWES AND VARIETIES

Clever Sayings

"George Bernard Shaw says he doesn't know how to talk." "He talks like a dig-dig."—Houston Post.
"Porter, this berth has been slept in." "No, sah; I assure you sah, merely occupied. It's the one over the wheels, sah."—Puck.
"Bacon—Sunshine is a great medicine." "Right—Yes I know; but I man ought to get his picture in the paper for taking that particular kind."
—Yonkers Statesman.

"What have you done with you talking man?" "I've got him out of his of its ability and made me get rid of it."—Judge.

"Modern literature has nothing similar to Polonius' advice to his son."
"No chance for it. No modern Polonius has reached me to tell his son anything."—Pittsburg Post.

"How do you overcome insomnia?"
"Say the multiplication table up to 17 times 12." "But I can't get the babble." "Learn it."—Cleveland Leader.

"Mrs. Knicker—How do you make your books balance?" Mrs. Rocker.
"That's easy; I always spend the exact sum I receive right away."—N. Y. Sun.

It's easy enough to spot the rich,
As down the street I stroll;
For rich men's horses are putting in Next winter's stock of coal.
—Detroit Free Press.

Teacher—William, where is the capital of the United States located?
Small Boy—My paw says it is either in Providence or Danville, and he ain't quite certain which.—Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Brown (rushing excitedly into the room)—Marie! Marie! Intelligence has reached me to Mrs. Brown (calmly interrupting him)—Well thank heaven, Henry—Brooklyn Life.

She (with a pout)—A man always treats his second wife better. He can't afford to treat his first wife as good of a bulky horse he uses mor-intelligence in picking out another—Illustrated Bits.

Mother—It is possible, Harry, this you have eaten all that cake without saying a word. What was going on?
Harry—Oh, no thought of her ex-ery second. I was afraid all the tin-saw would come before I had eaten it up.

"Do you believe in the Darwinian theory?" asked Mr. Whiffles. "I'm inclined to go farther than Darwin," answered Miss Cayenne. "I believe that some members of our species are descended from a return trip from Washington State."—Boston Post.

"Why don't the theatrical managers want husband and wife in the same company?" "They think the public wouldn't care to see a man making love to his wife."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mother—You were a long time in the conservatory with Mr. Willing last night. What was going on?
Daughter—Did you ever see a conservatory with papa before you married him? Mother—I suppose did.
Daughter—Well, mamma, it's the same old world.—Boston Transcript.

MUCH IN LITTLE

Large quantities of turquoise com-from Sikkim and Tibet, that from the latter country being harder and of a darker blue, which gives it greater value.

The 30,000,000 people of the Turkish empire are still practically without motor cars. The government is now about to spend several millions of on good roads, and between Damascus and Bagdad a motor car service is likely to be established soon.

A sum of $1,630 was paid at Christie's rooms, London, for a set of the Chippendale mahogany chairs, the backs pierced with a shell and carved with foliage and conventional scrolls while the legs were carved in the in the possession of Marie Antoinette.

American apples containing the San Jose scale are refused entry at German ports, but this precaution is refused as superfluous, because such apples rejected at Hamburg have been shipped to England and Denmark without having caused a spread of the pest.

The American minister at Buenos Ayres has informed the department of commerce that the annual fair, the of applications for space in the international railway and transportation exposition has been postponed until October 13.

A five-pound English plover was ward from Vineyard Sound in the spring and weighs in or 15 pounds.
The bird was shot by a man who gated was butcher and is able to whi-any other species not larger than himself. He attacks menhaden with ferocity as to pick them in winnow a foot deep on the coast.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Wm. D. Hooper

LEGAL NOTICES.

PROPOSALS

FOR STATE ROAD WORK

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the State Highway Commissioner, Room 27, Calverton, Hartford,<